

My Terms and Conditions

Once your deposit has been paid, should for any reason you need to cancel your Ceremony, I will perform another ceremony for you, subject to mutual availability, within eighteen months from the original date.

If, in the unlikely event that I cannot perform the Ceremony myself on the day, I will appoint another Celebrant, or recommend other Celebrants to you.

I can also forward you and/or the person now conducting the Ceremony with the service script, if the writing of it has been started. I will also share with them any information I already have pertaining to the ceremony.

The deposit of £50 secures your booking for that date in my diary, and is non-refundable. The remaining balance is due by the day of the Ceremony itself.

If supplies are purchased and provided by the Celebrant, the client agrees to reimburse those expenses in addition to the balance due.

Payments made by cheque, or by BACS payment to:

Rachel Bass Celebrant. Barclays Bank. Account Number 43298116 Sort Code 20-45-45

How I hold and use your data

In accordance with GDPR, I will only use details to contact you and others about the Ceremony. I will not retain any contact details for anyone after the Ceremony.

The personal information that you provide (full names, contact details, address, dates of birth etc) is safely kept and held on my paperwork until after the Ceremony. Then, all your data will be deleted from my mobile and computer. I do retain a copy of the script, should you need extra keepsake copies in future, but the only person to have access to this is me. Any personal information contained in this is anonymised before I save it. No contact details are included. My personal computer is password protected and has no other users.

I will retain your name/s on my copy of the invoice/s. All other contact details and personal information is deleted, and hard copies are shredded and disposed of.

I do not pass any of your details onto any other third parties without your express permission. An example of this would be if you asked me to order you a personalised candle or certificate, for instance, that required names and dates.

By paying the Booking Deposit for me to save the date for you, you are agreeing to these Terms & Conditions.
